

TRAVEL BLOGGER VIDEO INTERVIEW QUESTIONS:

Thanks for taking part in our new Travello Travel Bloggers video interview series/channel. We are looking to create a catalogue of short Travel Blogger video interviews to help profile you all to our users but also to create a library of video interviews with travel bloggers. You will receive a permanent feature on the Travello Website as well as our YouTube Channel and we will also feature the video on Facebook & of course on the app's feed.

All we ask is that you download Travello and give us your feedback too.

Guide for the interview recordings.

- We would like to keep the video interviews to about 2-3min finished edited length (that will be our finished edited length – you can record your answers longer, we'll just edit to that length)
- Please record the Introduction components below first.
- Then choose any of the below questions (as many or as little), we'd just like to cover your answers from the About You, Your Travel Adventures & Your Top 5 xyz sections
- How and where you record is up to you, you can record all in one place at the same time or from different places at different times.
- When you send us the link, please indicate the questions you have answered & in what order too, if you have a supporting photo or too by all means share too.
- Just send us a dropbox or google drive link to your video answers and we will compile it all together, we don't require you to do any editing, just your raw footage. That is unless you want to do your own. As we will edit in the questions you have answered and include our opening/closing credits etc.

INTRODUCTION – Please include the first 4 below:

- 20 Second Intro : A quick intro about yourself that we can use on the feed on Travello to profile you in a quick summary.
- Your name, Social handles, website, home country, where are you right now? You don't have to record all these in your answer, you can just provide them as written support.
- How many countries have you travelled to & how long have you been a travel blogger for?
- Why do you travel? Why be a travel blogger? What inspired you to become one etc?
